

SUMMER TERM 2017

Update at The Ohio State University

TUITION INCENTIVES

Starting in 2017, summer tuition will be discounted 25 percent for Columbus campus undergraduates. Tuition includes instructional, general and non-resident fees. The university created a more flexible structure last year that allows for a variety of four-, six-, eight- and 12-week summer courses. The new discount, which will reduce tuition 25 percent compared with the fall and spring rate, builds on that structure to make summer term more useful and productive and provide students with additional opportunities to make progress toward a degree.

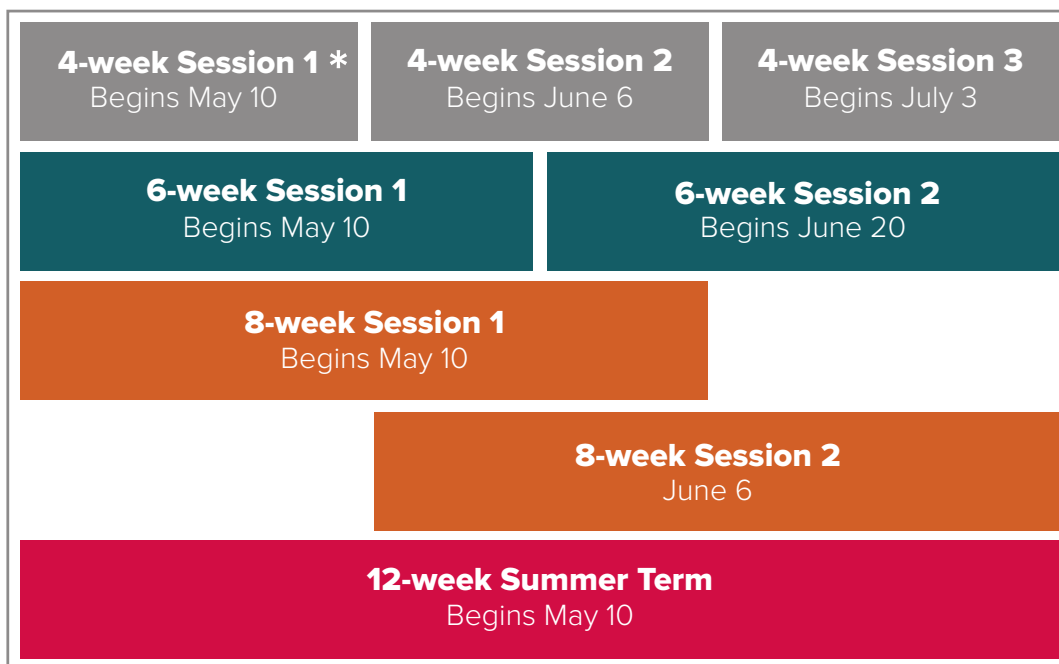

Some students will be eligible for a 50 percent discount instead of the 25 percent discount for up to three credit hours completed in the first four-week session only. As in past years, the discount for the first four-week session will be available for undergraduate, graduate and professional students who are enrolled full time in spring semester. After summer 2017, the first 4-week session will also be discounted at 25 percent.

Columbus campus undergraduate students will receive a 25 percent discount on tuition, general fees and non-resident fees for all sessions and Summer Term. A 50 percent discount may instead apply in 4-week Session 1 (see below).
