I. Introduction

This document provides a brief description of The Ohio State University at Marion and a description of its policies and procedures. It supplements the Rules of the University Faculty and other policies and procedures of the University to which the campus and its faculty are subject. The latter rules, policies and procedures, and changes in them, take precedence over statements in this document.

This Pattern of Administration must be reviewed and either revised or reaffirmed on appointment or reappointment of the Ohio State Marion dean and director. In keeping with Faculty Rules 3335-3-29.1 and 3335-3-35(C)(2), within the first year of their appointment or reappointment, the dean and director shall review the Pattern of Administration in consultation with the faculty. Any revisions shall be made with broad faculty input, obtained in a manner consistent with the campus's established practices and procedures.

At other times, revisions may be proposed by the dean and director or recommended to the dean and director by the Faculty Assembly, campus committees, or members of the faculty. The process for revision is the same as above. All revisions, as well as periodic reaffirmation, are subject to approval by the dean and director and the Office of Academic Affairs. Although the dean and director and faculty attempt to reach consensus on the document, formal faculty acceptance of the document is not required. Where faculty divisions make consensus or formal faculty approval impossible, the dean and director may implement a pattern without consensus.

Any revisions to the POA will be communicated in writing to the campus community.

II. Campus Mission

Mission: Ohio State Marion's mission is to provide an affordable education combining the rigor and opportunities of a leading research university with the support of a small campus to prepare our students for their professions within a global society.

Vision: Ohio State Marion's vision is to be the destination of choice for those seeking a university education at a campus recognized for excellence in teaching, research, community outreach, and global citizenship.

III. Academic Rights and Responsibilities

The university's statement of academic rights, responsibilities, and processes for addressing concerns is available on the Academic Rights and Responsibilities website.

IV. Faculty and Voting Rights

Faculty Rule 3335-5-19 defines the types of faculty appointments possible at The Ohio State University and the rights and restrictions associated with each type of appointment. Tenure-track and clinical/teaching faculty are members of their respective Tenure-Initiating Units (departments or schools) whose teaching and service normally occur at Ohio State Marion. This campus also employs associated faculty with the titles of adjunct, lecturer, visiting faculty, and tenure-track faculty appointed at 49% FTE or below.

For purposes of governance, the faculty of Ohio State Marion is defined as tenure-track and clinical/teaching faculty, as well as associated faculty with compensated appointments of 75% or more and for whom that 75% or more is assigned on the Marion campus.

Tenure-track faculty may vote in all matters of campus governance.

Clinical/teaching faculty may vote in all matters of campus governance except tenure-track faculty promotion and tenure decisions. Clinical/teaching faculty may vote on clinical/teaching faculty matters including appointment, reappointment, and promotion reviews.

Associated faculty, with the exception of visiting faculty, may vote in all matters of campus governance except personnel decisions. Associated faculty may not participate in the appointment, promotion and tenure reviews of tenure-track faculty, or in the appointment, reappointment, or promotion reviews of clinical/teaching faculty. Visiting faculty may be invited to participate in discussions on non-personnel matters, but may not participate in personnel matters, including appointment, promotion and tenure reviews, and may not vote on any matter.

Emeritus faculty may be invited to participate in discussions on non-personnel matters, but may not participate in personnel matters, including promotion and tenure reviews, and may not vote on any matter.

Detailed information about the appointment criteria and procedures for the various types of faculty appointments made at Ohio State Marion appears in the Appointments, Promotion and Tenure Document.

V. Organization of the Campus

A. Co-located campus

The Ohio State University at Marion is co-located with Marion Technical College (MTC). The campus's cost-shared agreement with MTC articulates the services that are shared between the institutions. In addition:

- The dean and director meets with the president of MTC at least monthly to ensure communication is flowing between the organizations
- The director of facilities meets at least monthly with the vice president of business affairs of MTC to ensure structural alignment is in place
- A wellness board, chaired by the director of counseling and wellness, exists to oversee the spend of shared counseling center funding. Membership includes an OSU counselor, the OSU director of development and community relations, an MTC nursing faculty member, and the MTC foundation chair
- Issues that affect both Ohio State Marion and Marion Technical College will be addressed jointly by campus leadership, with outcomes reported to their respective campus communities.

B. Service Level Agreements

Some campus services are arranged through contracts with outside organizations (e.g., Barnes and Noble), while others are arranged through service-level agreements (SLAs) with university offices. SLAs include the campus's human resources, information technology services, and enrollment management offices.

1. Human Resources

The Office of Human Resources provides services to the campus via its Human Resources Business Partner (HRBP) and other HR staff, who may or may not reside on the Marion campus.

2. Information Technology

The Office of Information Technology and Digital Innovation (OTDI) provides IT services to the campus. OTDI interacts with the campus administration primarily through a relationship manager and provides several on-site staff members. The services provided by OTDI and the fees paid by the campus are defined in a service-level agreement that is periodically updated and approved.

3. Enrollment Management

The Office of Strategic Enrollment Management (SEM) provides admissions services for Ohio State Marion and the campus's director of admissions reports to the director of regional campus recruitment, strategies, and initiatives in the SEM office. They have a dotted line to the dean and director.

4. Regional Business Shared Services

The Regional Business Shared Services office provides business expertise, reporting, analysis and customer service in business processes to the campus. At least one staff member is present on the Marion campus at least two days per week.

Other shared services arrangements are possible, to be created by the dean and director in conjunction with relevant Columbus offices.

C. Campus communication

1. Email and electronic collaboration

In alignment with Chapter 2, Section 13 of the OAA Procedures and Guidelines Handbook, faculty and staff at Ohio State Marion are required to use the university-managed osu.edu mailbox and related systems for all electronic communication. Use of personal email for university business is prohibited. Related systems in this context include, at present, Outlook, Teams, OneDrive, and Carmen. As part of a campus community that deploys electronic tools and workflows, faculty and staff are expected to be proficient and regular in their use, and responsive through them. If or when institutional platforms and tools are modified, these will be communicated to the campus community and the POA will be revised to include them.

2. Electronic mailing lists

Ohio State Marion supports six mailing lists. They are:

- Marall (marall@lists.osu.edu), for the entire faculty and staff community
- Marfac (marfac@lists.osu.edu), for all Ohio State Marion faculty
- Marregfac (marregfac@lists.osu.edu), for all Ohio State Marion tenure-track and clinical/teaching faculty

- Maraux (maraux@lists.osu.edu), for all Ohio State Marion associated faculty
- Marstaff (marstaff@lists.osu.edu), for all Ohio State Marion staff
- Marstudent (marstudent@lists.osu.edu), for all Ohio State Marion students

These electronic mailing lists are designed to support the research, teaching, and working functions and intellectual engagement of members of the campus. They should be deployed to efficiently and respectfully share information widely, and are not intended for messages that should be sent to a single user. Use expectations also include:

- If a message is intended for a specific recipient, users should email that recipient directly, even if the conversation began as a message to the entire listserv.
- Forwarding personal emails from another party without the sender's permission to the listserv is prohibited.
- Personal attacks are unacceptable on the listserv and sustained disagreements should be addressed discreetly.
- All use must comport with the Responsible Use of University Computing and Network Resources.

3. Civility and collegiality

Ohio State Marion affirms and upholds the university's shared values and expects all members of its campus community to engage with one another in a manner that reflects professionalism, respect, and civility. This expectation applies to all interactions—whether with colleagues, supervisors, students, contractors, visitors, or community members.

All employees are expected to foster a welcoming and inclusive workplace environment. Behaviors that undermine this standard—including, but not limited to, profanity, yelling, insults, name-calling, harassment, bullying, or personal attacks—are unacceptable. Additionally, the university prohibits any form of threatening, intimidating, or violent behavior, including sexual harassment, physical altercations, or any conduct that violates university policies on workplace safety and respectful conduct.

At Ohio State Marion, we recognize that our strength lies in the diverse contributions of our faculty and staff, whose professional accomplishments advance our shared mission of excellence. Just as we celebrate individual achievements, we also emphasize the importance of collegiality, mutual respect, and a collaborative spirit. We are committed to an environment in which differing perspectives are welcomed, and the free exchange of ideas is conducted in a climate of respect and intellectual curiosity.

Every member of the campus contributes not only through their individual accomplishments, but also through the ways in which they support and elevate the work of others. This commitment is reflected in our learning environments, research and creative inquiry, committee participation, community engagement, and partnerships with industry and public organizations.

Faculty and staff are expected to actively contribute throughout to a culture of respect, professionalism, and shared purpose. As such, adherence to these principles will be considered as part of performance evaluations and institutional accountability.

Appendix A contains an organizational chart for Ohio State University at Marion.

VI. Overview of Campus Decision-Making

Policy and program decisions are deliberated in a number of ways: by the campus faculty as a whole, by standing or special committees of the campus, or by campus staff and administration. Ultimate responsibility and final decision-making authority rests with the dean and director. However, the nature and importance of any individual matter determines how it is addressed. Campus governance proceeds on the general principle that the more important the matter to be decided, the more inclusive participation in decision making needs to be. Open discussions, both formal and informal, constitute the primary means of reaching decisions of central importance.

Faculty Assembly and the Marion Staff Advisory Council are central forums for shared governance. Their advice and recommendations will be considered in the dean and director's decision-making processes.

The dean and director also relies on contributions and advice from the Marion Campus Advisory Board (composed of nine private citizens and one student appointed by the Executive Vice President and Provost in consultation with the dean and director). The Marion Campus Advisory Board is consulted on matters pertaining to the campus as a whole. In cases where the dean and director is not able to reach consensus in consultation with the board, the dean and director will convene the board to publicly announce their decision and provide reasons for making that decision. See Chapter 5, Section 1 of the OAA Procedures and Guidelines Handbook for more information about regional campus advisory boards.

VII. Campus Administration

A Dean and Director

The primary responsibilities of the dean and director of a regional campus are set forth in Faculty Rule 3335-3-29.1, which states that "There shall be a dean and director of each regional campus who shall be a member of its faculty and the administrative head of the regional campus." That rule also states that "The major responsibility of each regional campus dean and director shall be that of providing active leadership in the promotion, direction, and support of educational activities and research opportunities, in the maintenance of a high level of morale among the faculty, and in the encouragement of the spirit of learning among the students. In addition, the dean and director shall have administrative responsibility for the program of the regional campus subject to the approval of the executive vice president and provost or designee, the president, and the board of trustees." This rule further requires the dean and director to develop, in consultation with the faculty, a Pattern of Administration with specified minimum content, including a description of campus policies and procedures.

Other responsibilities of the dean and director, not specifically noted elsewhere in this Pattern of Administration, are paraphrased and summarized below.

- To uphold expectations of the Leadership Philosophy:
 - Uphold Ohio State's Shared Values and engender trust through words and actions.
 - Care for people and create conditions for well-being and productivity.
 - Set clear direction and goals for their teams and align to the mission of the campus.
 - Solve problems and support their teams to adapt to changing contexts.

- Drive cross-functional collaborations to advance goals of Ohio State Marion.
 - Demonstrate commitment to continuous growth for themselves and their teams.
- To communicate to the regional campus community the educational programs, standards, and policies of the campus and the university.
- To establish the extent and variety of course offerings on the regional campus in consultation with the executive vice president and provost or designee, the appropriate college deans, department chairs or school directors, the faculty of the regional campus, and other regional campus deans.
- To consult with the appropriate college dean and department chair or school director and to jointly offer employment to prospective faculty members assigned to the campus.
- To assist the appropriate college deans, department chairs, and school directors in the annual review of all faculty assigned to the regional campus. This assistance shall include a written evaluation of the faculty member's teaching, research, and service activities on and for the regional campus. The regional campus dean and director shall be consulted when a regional campus faculty member is being considered for promotion and tenure and may suggest such candidates to the appropriate chairs and directors.
- To prepare and administer the regional campus budget in consultation with the regional campus faculty budget committee; to consult with the appropriate chair or director regarding faculty salary recommendations; to be responsible for the management, maintenance, and security of the physical plant and capital equipment of the regional campus.
- To maintain liaison with community councils and agencies and to garner support of regional campus programs and activities.
- To develop, promote, and maintain educational, cultural, and service programs with approval of the appropriate university bodies and administrative officials. The dean and director shall review all such programs periodically.
- To consult with the vice provost for regional campuses on matters of common concern to the regional campuses.

The dean and director is also expected to:

- Plan with the members of the faculty a progressive program for the campus that encourages research and educational investigations and promotes improvement of instruction by providing for the evaluation of each course when offered, including written evaluation by students of the course and instructors and periodic course review by the faculty.
- Evaluate and improve instructional and administrative processes on an ongoing basis.
- Maintain a curriculum vitae for all personnel teaching a course on the campus.
- Assign workload according to the campus's workload guidelines (see Section IX) and faculty appointment type (and rank).
- Carry general administrative responsibility for the regional campus and conduct the business of the regional campus efficiently. This broad responsibility includes the acquisition and management of funds, the hiring and supervision of faculty and staff, and the provision of adequate supervision and training for those members of the faculty and staff who may profit by such assistance. At Ohio State Marion, this also includes supervision of the ongoing maintenance of the Larry R. Yoder Prairie Learning Lab.
- Evaluate faculty and staff annually in accordance with both university and regional campus established criteria; inform faculty and staff when they receive their annual review of their right to review their primary personnel file maintained by the regional campus and to place in that file a response to any evaluation, comment, or other material contained in the file.

Day to day responsibility for specific matters may be delegated to others, but the dean and director retains final responsibility and authority for all matters covered by this Pattern, subject when relevant to the approval of the Office of Academic Affairs and the Board of Trustees.

Operational efficiency requires that the dean and director exercise a degree of autonomy in establishing and managing administrative processes. The articulation and achievement of campus academic goals, however, is most successful when all faculty participate in discussing and deciding matters of importance. The dean and director will therefore consult with the faculty on all educational and academic policy issues and will respect the principle of majority rule. When a departure from majority rule is judged to be necessary, the dean and director will explain to the faculty the reasons for the departure, ideally before action is taken.

A. Dean and Director's Meetings

i. Academic area meetings

All degree-granting area faculty are expected to meet as a group to discuss issues relevant to their program, students, TIU, and community. Tenure-track and clinical/teaching faculty must participate, and associated faculty with compensated appointments of at least 50% must be invited. These meetings should be chaired by program coordinators.

Meeting cadence: at least monthly during the fall and spring semester. The dean and director must be invited to attend at least once per semester. Programs that rely on the support of the Lab Demonstrator must invite that person to at least one meeting per year.

ii. Dean's all-faculty meeting

The dean and director will convene all-faculty meetings to discuss and address emergent issues and opportunities. All tenure-track, clinical/teaching, and associated faculty will be invited to these meetings. At least once per year, conversation about campus facilities and campus budget must be undertaken. (See also Section XI)

Meeting cadence: at least twice per semester, during the common hour

IX. Distribution of Faculty Duties, Responsibilities, and Workload

The dean and director is responsible for assuring that every faculty member has duties and responsibilities commensurate with their appointment and that campus workload is distributed equitably among faculty. While tenure-track faculty members determine their own research or other scholarly activity, the associate dean for faculty affairs assigns teaching. Occasionally, the dean and director may assign service. In making these assignments, the dean and director and the associate dean for faculty affairs must balance the needs of the campus with the preferences of the faculty member within the context of this policy.

Depending on their appointment, faculty members at The Ohio State University are expected to be actively engaged in teaching, research/scholarship, and/or service. The regional campus mission, compared to that of the Columbus campus, shifts a greater degree of emphasis to teaching, and regional campus service may include a greater degree of community outreach and engagement. Also expected of regional campus tenure-track faculty is research and scholarship at the same level of quality as departmental/school colleagues, although not at the same level of quantity given the regional campus mission.

The duties and responsibilities for each faculty position are specified before any search is initiated and are confirmed as an appointment is made. Tenure-track faculty must, over time, exhibit activity in teaching, research, and service. Associated faculty may engage in service. Clinical/teaching faculty typically do not engage in scholarship but are expected to engage in service.

Departures from average expected levels of activity may vary for a faculty member for several reasons, including the receipt of a special assignment or professional leave, the assignment of partial teaching duties at the Columbus campus, the assignment of additional teaching or service duties, or release time funded by a grant.

During on-duty periods, faculty members are expected to be available for interaction with students, research (tenure-track), and campus meetings and events (tenure-track) even if they have no formal course assignment. Every member of the faculty who is assigned instruction is expected to establish and maintain regular office hours, in person and/or online, in order to be readily available to students. Faculty should hold a number of office hours each week proportionate to the number of sections that they are teaching, with the equivalent of one hour per week per course as a minimum. These hours should be included on syllabi. On-duty faculty members should not be away from campus for extended periods of time unless on an approved leave (see Section XII) or on approved travel. Faculty Rule 3335-5-08 requires that absence from ordinary service in the university, for any cause other than sickness, must be with the knowledge and approval of the dean and director. Absences longer than ten consecutive business days must also be approved by the executive vice president and provost.

Telework exception: Faculty members with responsibilities requiring in-person interaction are to work at a university worksite to perform those responsibilities. Telework and the use of remote, virtual meetings are allowed at the discretion of the dean and director if such work can be performed effectively and faculty members are able to fulfill their responsibilities. Telework will be encouraged under certain circumstances if it serves the needs of the campus, college, university, and/or community. The dean and director has the discretion to require faculty to work on campus if there are concerns that responsibilities are not being fulfilled through telework. Unless the dean and director has approved a temporary telework status (normally no longer than one semester), regional campus tenure-track and clinical/teaching faculty are expected to maintain a consistent and meaningful physical presence on campus, generally the equivalent of a minimum of three days per week across fall and spring semester. The goal of this approach is not to monitor hours, but to ensure visible engagement in the life of the campus and to foster collegial, in-person interactions amongst faculty, staff, and students as part of the fabric of the institution. Adjustments to this expectation will be granted in cases where a faculty member's responsibilities require sustained presence elsewhere—such as teaching assignments in Columbus or other official duties—provided that the adjustment is reviewed and approved in advance by the dean and director.

The guidelines outlined here do not constitute a contractual obligation. Fluctuations in the demands and resources of the campus and the individual circumstances of faculty members may warrant temporary deviations from these guidelines. Assignments and expectations for the upcoming year are addressed as part of the annual review by the dean and director.

A full-time faculty member's primary professional commitment is to The Ohio State University and the guidelines below are based on that commitment. Faculty who wish to engage in outside activities during on-duty periods (including teaching at another institution; conducting research for an entity outside of Ohio State; external consulting) must submit an Outside Activities Approval Form and obtain approval from the dean and director before engaging in any outside activities. Information on faculty conflicts of commitment is presented in the university's Policy on Outside Activities and Conflicts.

In crisis situations, such as life-threatening disease (COVID, for example) or physical dangers (natural disasters, for example), faculty duties, responsibilities, and workload may be adjusted by the dean and director to take into account the impact over time of the crisis. These assignment changes must be considered in annual reviews.

A Tenure-track Faculty

1. Teaching

All tenure-track faculty are expected to contribute to the campus's teaching. The load for tenure-track faculty meeting expectations in research is 15-16 credit or contact hours (60-65% of workload), normally split among 3 to 5 individual courses. This is in accord with the university's Faculty Workload Guidelines (Faculty Workload Guideline | Office of Faculty Affairs). Therefore, a typical course load will consist of five 3-hour courses, four 4-hour courses, three 5-hour courses, or some combination thereof.

Teaching loads assigned to faculty members by the dean and director may be adjusted on an annual basis. During the annual review process, the dean and director examines the research evaluations conducted by the TIU. If the faculty member has substantially reduced research and scholarly activity, with research assessment of "does not meet expectations" for two or more years, the dean and director may indicate in the annual review that the faculty member will be switched to a teaching load of 17-19 credit or contact hours (70-80% FTE), assuming continued service and research equal to the remainder of a 100% FTE position. A faculty member on a teaching enhanced arrangement whose research has returned to the level of meeting expectations may request a change in their duty arrangement.

Tenure-track faculty who are meeting expectations in research will not be assigned a teaching load of 17 or more credit or contact hours without a corresponding reduction in research or service FTE. All tenure-track faculty are paid for additional teaching beyond 19 hours on a per-instructional hour basis.

A tenure-track faculty member may seek an adjustment to their teaching load in any of several circumstances to include:

- Receipt of a grant
- Special assignment
- Teaching or service activities as an equivalent of a course

Receipt of a grant

A faculty member may seek course reductions from direct cost funds provided by a grant but must receive approval from the dean and director for the reductions prior to submitting a grant proposal. The dean and director may use the funds from salary recovery from a grant to award the faculty member a maximum reduction of 3-4 contact hours of teaching per academic year. Grants provided by Ohio State Marion may not be used to purchase release time.

A faculty member who receives an external fellowship may apply for an external fellowship subsidy from the campus. Such subsidies require the faculty member to agree to transfer the stipend from the external agency to the campus, and the amount must be at least 40% of the faculty member's annual base salary.

Special Assignments

Information on faculty special assignments (SAs) is presented in the Policy on Faculty Special Assignment. The information provided below supplements this policy.

Untenured faculty will normally be provided an SA for research for one semester during their probationary period; this may be broken into individual course releases spread across the probationary period at the discretion of the dean and director in conversation with the faculty member. Reasonable efforts will be made to award SA opportunities to all other faculty members subject to the quality of faculty proposals, including their potential benefit to the campus, TIU or university, and the need to assure that sufficient faculty are always present to carry out campus work. The number of SAs available is also subject to budget restrictions.

Applications for SAs must be submitted to the dean and director's office by November 1 of the year prior to the academic year for which the SA is being requested. Applications for SA must include:

- A cover sheet (available through the associate dean for faculty affairs)
- Curriculum vitae
- Proposal that includes a description of the research to be undertaken and its likely status at the end of the SA period
- A letter from the faculty member's TIU head or expert in the field indicating that the proposal has been carefully reviewed and has sufficient merit to warrant granting an Ohio State Marion-funded SA to the applicant.

Applicants who receive a research-related SA are eligible to apply for another SA to begin no sooner than three academic years (six consecutive semesters of service) after their previous application. In the case of comparable applications, the applicant who has had an SA less recently will be prioritized. Special consideration will be given to faculty members who are returning to research and scholarly activity after a period of inactivity, or untenured faculty members falling below expectations in their annual research evaluation. Proposals from faculty in such situations must include an additional support letter from the TIU head addressing these issues if they are not mentioned in the expert letter reviewing the proposal.

Applications will be reviewed by the tenure-track faculty members on the Research and Creative Practice Committee, taking into account criteria and parameters provided by the dean and director, in a session chaired by a tenured faculty member. The committee's recommendation to the dean and director regarding an SA proposal will be based on the quality of the proposal and its potential benefit to the campus, TIU or university and to the faculty member. The committee will consider the overall profile of each applicant in making recommendations. By January 15, the committee will provide a written report to the dean and director with a prioritized rank-ordered list of the faculty members it recommends and a brief explanation for its decisions.

Committee members are not permitted to evaluate requests for SAs for themselves or family members.

If the dean and director believes that circumstances merit a rejection of a committee recommendation, they must meet with the committee to discuss the case. If the dean and director still cannot accept the recommendation, they must notify the chair of the committee and the candidate in writing, articulating the reasons for the decision. The committee may then recommend another eligible recipient. The dean and director will usually announce decisions regarding SAs for the next academic year no later than April 1 of the previous academic year but retains the option of making decisions regarding proposals at other times when circumstances warrant such flexibility.

Faculty members on an SA cannot teach courses for additional financial compensation during the academic year in which the SA occurs, unless specific permission from the dean and director is granted.

Faculty Professional Leave (FPL) is the appropriate mechanism to release a faculty member from more than a semester's worth of teaching in a single year (see Section XII). FPLs involve salary reductions and other considerations established by the Ohio legislature and University Board of Trustees. Faculty considering an FPL should fully acquaint themselves with these policies before applying for leave.

Teaching or service activities as an equivalent of a course

These requests require the faculty member to submit an application for committee review and final approval by the dean and director.

Applications for course releases must be submitted to the dean and director's office by November 1 of the year prior to the academic year for which the course release is being requested. Applications for course releases must include:

- A cover sheet (available from the associate dean of faculty affairs)
- A proposal that includes a description of the activities to be undertaken and their value to the community, campus, TIU, and/or university

Applications will be reviewed by the committee that evaluates SA applications according to criteria and parameters provided by the dean and director. The committee's recommendation to the dean and director regarding a course release proposal will be based on the quality of the proposal and its potential benefit to the campus, TIU, or university. By January 15, the committee will provide a written report to the dean and director with a prioritized rank-ordered list of the faculty members it recommends and a brief explanation for its decisions.

Committee members are not permitted to evaluate requests for course releases for themselves or family members.

If the dean and director believes that circumstances merit a rejection of a committee recommendation, they must meet with the committee to discuss the case. If the dean and director still cannot accept the recommendation, they must notify the chair of the committee and the candidate in writing, articulating the reasons for the decision. The dean and director will usually announce decisions regarding course releases for the next academic year no later than April 1 of the previous academic year but retains the option of making decisions regarding proposals at other times when circumstances warrant such flexibility.

Faculty members receiving a course release cannot teach courses for additional financial compensation during the academic year in which the course release occurs, unless specific permission from the dean and director is granted.

2. Scholarship

Columbus departments' Appointment, Promotion, and Tenure (APT) documents specify the kinds and amounts of scholarly activities that faculty members at the regional campuses should produce. These documents are all available on the Office of Academic Affairs website. These documents must be reviewed by the dean and director, the associate dean for faculty affairs, and the vice provost for regional campuses annually; together, they should advocate with relevant TIUs to ensure language appropriately articulates regional faculty expectations. The dean and director will communicate annually with all Ohio State Marion faculty TIUs in advance of review cycles to remind them of and hold them to the appropriate expectations for a regional campus faculty member.

In accord with the university's Faculty Workload Guideline, scholarship comprises between 10 and 30 percent of a tenure-track faculty member's overall effort.

3. Service

All tenure-track faculty members are expected to engage in service to the campus, their TIU, the university, their discipline, and the Marion community. In accord with the university's Faculty Workload Guideline, service comprises between 10 and 20 percent of a faculty member's overall effort. At Ohio State Marion, service as a mode of civic engagement is prioritized; to that end, service in the Marion area—aligned with established institutional priorities or intentional growth spaces—is highly valued. Too, the ways in which faculty serve this campus—through robust, engaged, civil, and generative participation in the committees articulated in this Pattern and in other modes determined by the dean and director—are highly valued. At the same time, the campus recognizes the value of a faculty member's service to their discipline and profession through service to their TIU, and to national and regional professional associations. This service may involve organization of conferences, reviews of manuscripts or books, expert commentary to the media, and other such activities.

B Clinical/Teaching Faculty

Ohio State Marion uses clinical/teaching faculty titles for positions that colleges or TIUs deem appropriate. Such appointments exist for faculty members who focus principally on the campus's teaching needs, industry- and community-outreach needs, and career-preparation needs of students. In accord with the university's Faculty Workload Guideline, teaching represents 65—100 percent of the clinical/teaching faculty member's effort. Clinical/teaching faculty typically teach the equivalent of seven three-credit hour courses per academic year. Clinical/teaching faculty typically do not engage in scholarship but are expected to engage in service.

Specific expectations are spelled out in the letter of offer.

C Associated Faculty

In accord with the university's Faculty Workload Guideline, teaching represents 80 – 100 percent of the associated faculty member's effort. Associated faculty typically do not engage in scholarship but may occasionally engage in service, including serving as a program coordinator. Coordinator positions typically include duties such as assisting with enrollment projections, meeting with coordinators from the other regional campuses, communicating with various administrators on the Columbus campus, and assisting in recruitment and hiring of associated faculty.

Compensated associated faculty members are expected to contribute to the campus's mission via teaching. The characteristics of associated faculty members' teaching duties may vary depending on the terms of their individual appointments.

Specific expectations are spelled out in the letter of offer.

D Guidelines for Determining Associated Faculty FTE Exceptions to Faculty Appointments Policy

There are instances where the workload associated with a course is greater (or less) than the university-wide ratio of one 3-credit course to 0.25 FTE. In such cases, a regional campus should request approval for an FTE adjustment for an associated faculty member.

At other times there may be unique circumstances surrounding the specific instance the course is offered that increase the workload. In these cases, the campus should request approval for additional compensation for the faculty member teaching the course.

In all cases, campuses must provide evidence to justify requests to increase or decrease the credit-hour to FTE equivalency beyond the university-wide ratio of one 3-credit course to 0.25 FTE. Every five years, campuses will reassess and report to the college whether or not any changes are warranted.

Activities that may warrant additional compensation include the following:

- Faculty member assigned a course for the first time.
- Faculty member requested to simultaneously significantly revise and teach a course
- Faculty member requested to teach a class that is larger than usual

Examples of circumstances that may warrant adjusting FTE:

- Three hour-credit courses that exceed an average of two additional hours/week; the FTE will be determined by assessing the average hours/week required for the course
- Courses involving individual instruction
- Advising, curriculum development, internship oversight may replace course teaching
- Online course development
- Large enrollment courses

E Modification of Duties

This campus strives to be a family-friendly unit in its efforts to recruit and retain high quality faculty members. To this end, the campus provides for a modification of duties to provide its faculty members flexibility in meeting work responsibilities within the first year of childbirth/adoption/fostering, or care for an immediate family member who has a serious health condition, or a qualifying exigency arising out of the fact that the employee's immediate family member is on covered active duty in a foreign country or call to covered active duty status. The faculty member's college pattern of administration contains details. See also the OHR Parental Care Guidebook and the Parental Leave Policy in Section XII.

A faculty member requesting a modification of duties and the dean and director should be creative and flexible in developing a solution that is fair to both the individual, the TIU, and the campus while addressing the needs of the university. Expectations must be spelled out in an MOU that is approved by the dean and director and college dean. Options include reassigning the off-duty period; deferring teaching obligations to another semester; using a 7-week teaching schedule; redistributing expectations among teaching, research, and/or service; and team teaching. Faculty may be eligible for additional leave under the Family Medical Leave Policy and/or the university's paid parental leave guidelines as described in its Policy on Paid Leave Programs.

X. Course Offerings, Teaching Schedule, and Grade Assignments

The dean and director delegates authority over course offerings and teaching schedules to the associate dean for academic affairs, who will annually develop a schedule of course offerings and teaching schedules in consultation with the associate dean of faculty affairs and, when necessary, with individual faculty members. While consideration will be given to the individual preferences of faculty, the campus's first obligation is to offer the courses needed by students at times most likely to meet student needs. To assure classroom availability, reasonable efforts must be made to distribute course offerings across the day and week. To meet student needs, reasonable efforts must be made to assure that course offerings match student demand and that timing conflicts with other courses students are known to take in tandem are avoided. A scheduled course that does not attract the minimum number of students required by Faculty Rule 3335-8-16 will normally be cancelled and the faculty member scheduled to teach that course will be assigned to another course for that or a subsequent semester. If another course is unavailable, the faculty member will either be assigned to either (a) complete a specific academic task (e.g., developing a new course and preparing documents for course approval), or (b) teach an additional course during a subsequent semester.

If an instructor of record is unable to assign grades due to an unexpected situation (i.e., health or travel), or if they have not submitted grades before the university deadline and are unreachable by all available modes of communication, the dean and director may determine an appropriate course of action, including assigning a faculty member to evaluate student materials and assign grades for that class. The University Registrar will be made aware of this issue as soon as it is known and will be provided a timeline for grade submission.

XI. Allocation of Campus Resources

The dean and director is responsible for the fiscal and academic health of the campus and for assuring that all resources—fiscal, human, and physical—are allocated in a manner that will optimize achievement of campus goals.

The dean and director will discuss the campus budget at least annually with faculty, staff, and the campus Advisory Board and will attempt to achieve consensus regarding the use of funds across general categories. However, final decisions on budgetary matters rest with the dean and director.

The allocation of salary funds is discussed in the Appointments, Promotion and Tenure Document.

XII. Leaves and Absences

In general, there are four types of leaves and absences taken by faculty (in addition to parental leave, which is detailed in the Parental Care Guidebook). The University's policies with respect to leaves and absences are set forth on the Office of Human Resources Policies and Forms website. The information provided below supplements these policies.

A Discretionary Absence

Faculty and staff are expected to complete a request for absence form in Workday well in advance of a planned absence (for attendance at a professional meeting, for example) to provide time for its consideration and approval and time to assure that instructional, administrative, and other commitments are covered. Discretionary absence from duty is not a right and the dean and director retains the authority to disapprove a proposed absence when it will interfere with instructional or administrative commitments. Such an occurrence is most likely when the number of absences in a particular semester is substantial. Rules of the University Faculty require that the Office of Academic Affairs approve any discretionary absence longer than ten consecutive business days (see Faculty Rule 3335-5-08).

B Absence for Medical Reasons

When absences for medical reasons are anticipated, faculty are expected to complete a request for absence form in Workday as early as possible. When such absences are unexpected, the faculty member, or someone speaking for the faculty member, should let the dean and director know promptly so that instructional, administrative, and other commitments can be managed. Faculty are always expected to use sick leave for any absence covered by sick leave (personal illness, illness of family members, medical appointments). Sick leave is a benefit to be used—not banked. For additional details, see OHR Policy 6.27.

C Unpaid Leaves of Absence

The university's policies with respect to unpaid leaves of absence and entrepreneurial leaves of absence are set forth in OHR Policy 6.45.

D Faculty Professional Leave (FPL)

Information on faculty professional leaves is presented in the OAA Policy on Faculty Professional Leave.

Because FPL proposals must be approved by the dean and director, Office of Academic Affairs, and Board of Trustees before they may be implemented, faculty should submit FPL proposals for a particular year no later than November 1 of the preceding year, except when the development of an unexpected opportunity precludes such timing. The faculty member should follow the same procedure outlined for SA proposal and evaluation in section IX.

The dean and director forwards their recommendation on the FPL to the faculty member's TIU head for evaluation. The dean and director's recommendation will be based on the quality of the proposal and its potential benefit to the campus and to the faculty member as well as the ability of the campus to accommodate the leave at the time requested. The TIU head then returns approved proposals to the dean and director, who submits the leave application to the Office of Academic Affairs.

E Parental Leave

The university and this campus recognize the importance of parental leave to faculty members. Details are provided in the OHR Parental Care Guidebook, Paid Time Off Program Policy 6.27, and the Family and Medical Leave Policy 6.05.

XIII. Additional Compensation and Outside Activities

Information on additional compensation is presented in the OAA Policy on Faculty Compensation. Information on paid external consulting is presented in the university's Policy on Outside Activities and Conflicts. The information provided below supplements these policies.

Ohio State Marion adheres to these policies in every respect and expects faculty members to carry out the duties associated with their primary appointment with the university at a high level of competence before seeking other income-enhancing opportunities. All activities providing additional compensation must be approved by the dean and director regardless of the source of compensation. External consulting must also be approved. Approval will be contingent on the extent to which a faculty member is carrying out regular duties at an acceptable level, the extent to which the extra income activity appears likely to interfere with regular duties, and the academic value of the proposed consulting activity to the campus. In addition, it is university policy that faculty may not spend more than one business day per week on additionally compensated activities and external consulting combined.

Faculty with an administrative position (for example, associate dean) remain subject to the Policy on Outside Activities and Conflicts and with appropriate approval, are permitted to engage in paid external work activities. However, faculty members with administrative positions are not permitted to accept compensation/honoraria for services that relate to or are the result of their administrative duties and responsibilities.

Should an Ohio State Marion faculty member wish to use a textbook or other material that is authored by the faculty member and the sale of which results in a royalty being paid to him or her, such textbook or material may be required for a course by the faculty member only if (1) dean and director has approved the use of the textbook or material for the course taught by the faculty member, or (2) an appropriate campus committee reviews and approves the use of the textbook or material for use in the course taught by the faculty member.

Faculty who fail to adhere to the University's policies on these matters, including seeking approval for external consulting, will be subject to disciplinary action.

XIV. Financial Conflicts of Interest

The university's policy with respect to financial conflicts of interest is set forth in the university's Policy on Outside Activities and Conflicts. A conflict of interest exists if financial interests or other opportunities for tangible personal benefit may exert a substantial and improper influence upon a faculty member or administrator's professional judgment in exercising any University duty or responsibility, including designing, conducting or reporting research.

Faculty members are required to file conflict of interest screening forms annually, and more often if prospective new activities pose the possibility of financial conflicts of interest. Faculty who fail to file such forms or to cooperate with University officials in the avoidance or management of potential conflicts will be subject to disciplinary action.

In addition to financial conflicts of interest, faculty must disclose any conflicts of commitment that arise in relation to consulting or other work done for external entities. Further information about conflicts of commitment is included in section IX above.

XV. Grievance Procedures

Ohio State Marion faculty and staff members with grievances should discuss them with the dean and director who will review the matter as appropriate and either seek resolution or explain why resolution is not possible. Content below describes procedures for the review of specific types of complaints and grievances.

A Salary Grievances

A tenure-track or clinical/teaching faculty member who believes that their salary is inappropriately low should discuss the matter with the dean and director. An associated faculty member who believes that their salary is inappropriately low should discuss the matter with the associate dean for faculty affairs. A staff member who believes their salary is inappropriately low should discuss the matter with their supervisor. The complainant should provide documentation to support the complaint.

Faculty members who are not satisfied with the outcome of the discussion with the dean and director or the associate dean for faculty affairs and wish to pursue the matter may be eligible to file a formal salary appeal. Please see Chapter 4, Section 2 of the Office of Academic Affairs Procedures and Guidelines Handbook for more information.

Staff members who are not satisfied with the outcome of the discussion with their supervisor should consult with the HR Business Partner. If the staff member is still dissatisfied and wishes to pursue the matter further, they should contact Employee and Labor Relations in the Office of Human Resources.

B Faculty Promotion and Tenure Appeals

Promotion and tenure appeals procedures are set forth in Faculty Rule 3335-5-05.

C Faculty and Staff Misconduct

Complaints alleging faculty misconduct or incompetence should follow the procedures set forth in Faculty Rule 3335-5-04. The dean and director will refer any allegations of research misconduct to the Office of Research Compliance.

Any student, faculty, or staff member may report complaints against staff to the dean and director. The Office of Employee and Labor Relations in the Office of Human Resources can provide assistance with questions, conflicts, and issues that arise in the workplace.

D Harassment, Discrimination, and Sexual Misconduct

The Civil Rights Compliance Office exists to help the Ohio State community prevent and respond to all forms of harassment, discrimination, and sexual misconduct.

- 1 Ohio State's policy and procedures related to equal employment opportunity are set forth in the university's policy on equal employment opportunity.
- 2 Ohio State's policy and procedures related to nondiscrimination, harassment, and sexual misconduct are set forth in the university's policy on nondiscrimination, harassment, and sexual misconduct.

E Violations of Laws, Rules, Regulations, or Policies

Concerns about violations of laws, rules, regulations, or policies affecting the university community should be referred to the Office of University Compliance and Integrity. Concerns may also be registered anonymously through the Anonymous Reporting Line.

F Complaints by and about Students

Normally, student complaints about courses, grades, and related matters are brought to the attention of individual faculty members. In receiving such complaints, faculty should treat students with respect regardless of the apparent merit of the complaint and provide a considered response.

Students should direct informal complaints about courses and instructors that are not complaints of sexual misconduct to the Ohio State Marion ombudsperson. When such complaints are grade grievances and are not resolved to the student's satisfaction, the ombudsperson should refer the student to Faculty Rule 3335-8-23. When such complaints allege that a faculty member has failed to meet their obligations as a faculty member, has committed acts or omissions which otherwise impair their effectiveness in meeting these obligations, has engaged in grave misconduct, research misconduct, has committed nontrivial financial fraud, or has otherwise violated university rules, the ombudsperson should refer the student to Faculty Rule 3335-5-04, and notify the dean and director.

If the complaint is against a tenure-track or clinical/teaching faculty member, the dean and director will confer with the TIU head to determine if sufficient evidence exists to warrant referring the complaint to the college dean. If the complaint is against an associated faculty member, the dean and director will refer the complaint to the associate dean for faculty affairs to investigate the matter as fully and fairly as possible, and who will provide a response to both the students and any affected faculty member.

Faculty complaints regarding students must always be handled strictly in accordance with university rules and policies. Faculty should seek the advice and assistance of the dean and director and others with appropriate knowledge of policies and procedures when problematic situations arise.

G Academic Misconduct

Faculty members will report any instances of academic misconduct to the Committee on Academic Misconduct in accordance with the Code of Student Conduct. See also Board of Trustees Rule 3335-23-05.

Appendix A: Organizational Chart

Appendix B: Faculty Assembly Constitution (in development)

Appendix C: Marion Staff Advisory Committee

The Marion Staff Advisory Committee (MSAC) serves as an advisory body to the dean and director by maintaining an active and participatory line of communication with the staff community. It provides a forum through which university staff can raise, discuss, and make recommendations to support the campus's mission. MSAC is comprised of nine Classified Civil Service and Administrative & Professional staff members. Staff may self-nominate, may be nominated by another, or may volunteer to serve. A chair and co-chair are selected from among the members. The term of service is no more than three years.

To accomplish this mission, MSAC shall:

- Serve as liaison to Ohio State Marion Administration concerning issues affecting staff in their employment, evaluation, compensation, recognition, and professional development.
- Maintain an active and participatory line of communication on behalf of and among staff to provide a forum through which staff can raise, discuss, and make recommendations on non-academic concerns and activities at Ohio State Marion.
- Promote a sense of community at Ohio State Marion through public relations, communication, and activities involving the staff.
- Provide a natural link with the University Staff Advisory Council at the Columbus campus.

On an approximately monthly basis, the chair of MSAC holds an open meeting of all Classified Civil Service and Administrative and Professional staff. The dean and director attends these meetings, and the meetings are open to faculty. The chair and/or the officers of MSAC establish the agenda, which may include a presentation or program conducted by Marion staff or others, sharing of information and news regarding the campus and solicitation of input from staff, and questions and answers. Minutes of each meeting are posted on Teams.

The MSAC chair serves on the Dean's Council.
