Dear Elliot,

The Department of Comparative Studies has completed and submitted its proposals for the semester versions of its graduate programs. The Disciplinary Advisory Panel for Curriculum from the Division of Arts and Humanities within the College of Arts and Sciences met, extensively reviewed, provided feedback to the department, and unanimously approved at its meeting on March 11, 2011, the proposals for semester versions of the following programs from the Department of Comparative Studies:

Graduate Minor in Comparative Cultural Studies—minimal change
MA in Comparative Studies—minimal change
PhD in Comparative Studies —minimal change

The Comparative Studies graduate programs included housekeeping for its programmatic offerings, and no change was necessary for any of the graduate Comparative Studies Programs. The department took this opportunity to restructure its 700 and 800 level seminars from discrete “boutique” courses to seminars that can encompass many facets of a particular subject. The department also devised a numbering system that allowed the unit to organize and regularize its course numbers.

The Graduate Minor in Comparative Cultural Studies is moving forward in semester conversion with minimal conversion. The program under quarters required 20 credit hours, and under semesters it will require 12. The same two core courses required under quarters, 710 Approaches to Comparative Cultural Studies I and 711 Approaches to Comparative Cultural Studies II, will be required under semesters with semester numbers 6390.01 and 6390.02 respectively. Two additional courses required under quarters at the 700-level or above will be required in semesters at the 7000 or 8000 level. The minor is a course-to-course translation, with four courses offered under quarters and four courses offered under semesters. The department has provided a “Rosetta Stone” for quarter to semester course numbers and a transition policy.

The Master of Arts in Comparative Studies is moving forward in semester conversion with minimal conversion. The degree under quarters required 50 credit hours, and under semesters it will require 30. The department has included learning goals in preparation for assessment of all graduate programs in 2012. Under quarters the degree required 10 courses for a total of 50 hours of coursework plus the thesis; under semesters the degree will require 9 courses for a total of 27 hours of coursework plus 3 hours for thesis work, totaling 30 credit hours. This minimal change is anticipated to aid graduate students in the completion of their theses. The same two core courses required under quarters, 710 Approaches to Comparative Cultural Studies I and 711 Approaches to Comparative Cultural Studies II, will be required under semesters with semester numbers 6390.01 and 6390.02 respectively. The quarter requirement of a minimum of 30 credit hours of coursework taken within the unit is reduced by one course under semesters to the requirement of 15 credit hours of course work within the unit. Requirements of one 7000-level and one 8000-level course and maximum of 3 credits at the 5000-level remain the same, along with the credit hour cap of no more than 6 hours of non graded coursework (S/U or P/NP) counting toward the degree. Essentially, the degree remains the same except for the reduction of the one course to accommodate the one semester devoted entirely to the thesis. The department has provided a “Rosetta Stone” for quarter to semester course numbers and a transition policy.

The PhD in Comparative Studies is moving forward in semester conversion with minimal conversion. The degree under quarters required 120 credit hours, and under semesters it will require 80. The department has included learning goals in preparation for assessment of all graduate programs in 2012. For students who did not complete their MA at Ohio State, the same two core courses required for the Graduate Minor and the MA under quarters, 710 Approaches to Comparative Cultural Studies I and 711 Approaches to Comparative Cultural Studies II, will be required under semesters with semester numbers 6390.01 and 6390.02 respectively. The quarter requirement of a minimum of 30 credit hours of coursework taken within the unit translates under semesters to the requirement of 15 credit hours of course work within the unit. The requirement of a minimum of 18 credit hours in 7000-level and 8000-level coursework remains the same under semesters as under quarters. No 5000-level course may be counted on the PhD beyond the MA, and like the MA, the PhD has a credit hour cap of no more than 6 hours of non-graded coursework (S/U or P/NP) counting toward the degree. The department has provided a sample time line for students entering with a BA in the Humanities or related field, and for students entering with an MA in a Humanities, Social Science, or related field. The department has provided a “Rosetta Stone” for quarter to semester course numbers and a transition policy.

We are sending these graduate programs forward for review and approval in the next stage of curricular review at the Arts and Sciences Committee on Curriculum and Instruction. The courses that are specific to all of the programs are listed under multiple Book 3 Listings. If you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to call or email me at 292-5727 or williams.1415@osu.edu.

The Department of Comparative Studies currently offers the following graduate programs:

1. Master of Arts in Comparative Studies
2. Doctor of Philosophy in Comparative Studies
3. Graduate Minor in Comparative Cultural Studies

The Department of Comparative Studies approached semester conversion by first of all establishing an ad hoc Committee on Semester Conversion. Its chair and the Department chair both attended the quarter-long semester conversion Curriculum Institute offered by UCAT in autumn of 2009. Subsequently, the Graduate Studies Committee, the Undergraduate Studies Committee, and the Department faculty as a whole engaged in a thorough-going examination of our degree programs and curriculum in light of semester conversion. The changes we ultimately agreed to, in a series of meetings in the Winter and Spring quarters of 2010, are minimal regarding both specific courses and whole programs. But we did use the occasion to update our graduate course listings, combining several courses as single repeatable seminars, modifying several others, and adding a small number of new courses. For example, we redesigned the 700-level "Race and Citizenship" as a repeatable 8000-level seminar, and we eliminated the 800-level "Religion and Politics" and "Religion and Sexuality" and replaced them with the 8000-level "Seminar in Religion," which will also be repeatable. And we have added new introductory courses in Trauma Studies and in Comparative Ethnic and American Studies. These updates have not changed the structure or content of the MA or PhD programs or the Graduate Minor.

The only other change we have made in our curriculum is to re-number our courses. Like those in many departments, our quarter course numbers accreted piecemeal over the years, and had become rather illogical. We have completely revamped our course numbering to take advantage of the four digits in the new semester numbering system, so that the first (thousands) digit refers to course level, the second refers to the position of the course within our curriculum (e.g., required, introductory, advanced, capstone), while the third digit refers to content area (religious studies, comparative literature, American studies, and so on), and the last distinguishes among courses that are at the same level, in the same position, and on the same subject matter.

So even though the resulting changes to courses and programs are minimal, the Department was able to use the semester conversion process to re-examine its curriculum, regularize its course-numbering system, and increase the rigor and coherence of its degree programs.

Programs in Comparative Studies

The Department of Comparative Studies currently offers the following undergraduate and graduate programs:

1. Bachelor of Arts in Comparative Studies with six areas of concentration or subplans, each of which is a Transcriptable Specialization. All students in the major must choose one of the following specializations:
 - Comparative Cultural Studies
 - Comparative Ethnic and American Studies
 - Comparative Literature
 - Folklore
 - Religious Studies
 - Science and Technology Studies
2. Bachelor of Arts in World Literatures
3. Three undergraduate minors:
 - American Studies
 - Folklore
 - Religious Studies
4. Master of Arts in Comparative Studies
5. Doctor of Philosophy in Comparative Studies
6. Graduate Minor in Comparative Cultural Studies

Rationale Statement for Graduate Minor in Comparative Cultural Studies

No structural changes are planned for the Graduate Minor in Comparative Cultural Studies, which is open to graduate students in any department at Ohio State. The Graduate Minor allows students to supplement their graduate studies with a broader understanding of the theoretical, historical, and methodological concerns related to interdisciplinary studies of cultural and cross-cultural issues.

Under the quarter system, the Graduate Minor requires 20 credit hours of coursework to include Comparative Studies 710 and 711, courses that introduce students to social and cultural theory and interdisciplinary research methods relevant to graduate work in Comparative Studies. Ten additional hours are selected from the department's 600-800-level offerings, with no more than one course at the 600-level.

With conversion to semesters, students will still be required to take the two introductory courses that are required of all Comparative Studies graduate students, but these have been renumbered at the 6000-level:

Comparative Studies 6390.01 (equivalent to 710) Approaches to Comparative Cultural Studies I
Comparative Studies 6390.02 (equivalent to 711) Approaches to Comparative Cultural Studies II

Under the semester system, the two other required courses must be at the 7000- or 8000-level. This preserves the expectation that students will take higher level courses to complete the graduate minor. The number of courses required will remain at four, and the number of credits required will be 12.

Transition Policy for the Graduate Minor in Comparative Cultural Studies

Under the quarter system, the Graduate Minor in Comparative Cultural Studies requires 20 coursework hours including the two introductory social and cultural theory courses, Comparative Studies 710 and 711, and two additional courses, at least one at the 700-level or higher. Under the semester system the Graduate Minor will require the semester versions of CS 710 and 711 (CS 6390.01 and 6390.02) and two additional courses at the 7000-level or higher.

The transition will not require additional coursework for any students, regardless of their status at the time of transition. We have devised the following table to show students how the change to semesters will affect their completion of the Ph.D. degree:

SEMESTER CONVERSION TABLE FOR Ph.D. IN COMPARATIVE STUDIES

Semester Conversion Table for Graduate Minor in Comparative Cultural Studies
Quarter Courses Completed	Quarter Coursework Hours Completed*	Semester Courses Needed	Additional Semester Coursework Hours Needed
0	0	4	12
1	5	3	9
2	10	2	6
3	15	1	3
4	20	0	0

If a 600-level quarter class is included among those the student has taken for the Graduate Minor, that class will count toward the Minor under the semester system. However, semester classes other than Comp Studies 6390.01 and 6390.02 must be taken at the 7000- or 8000-level.

Information about the transition period for the Graduate Minor in the conversion to semesters will be posted on the Comparative Studies website.
