

April 30th, 2024

Dr. Ottesen and members of the Arts and Sciences Curriculum Committee-

On April 21st, 2024, the staff in the ASC Curriculum and Assessment Services Office received a request from the Dr. Beth Hewitt, Director of Undergraduate Studies in the Department of English, to correct an error in the English Major program that was revised in the spring of 2023. Specifically, the Pre-Education specialization should include English 2291 as fulfilling the American Literature requirement.

In order to correct this error, the department has submitted an updated copy of the Program Revision from 2023, as well as an updated Advising Sheet for this specialization. Those documents, as well as the original email communication with the ASCCAS Office, are attached to this letter.

February 5, 2023

Dear Dr. and Vice Provost Smith,

Attached please find a proposal from the Department of English to revise the English major and English minor. The changes are made in response to i) an external review of the department in Fall of 2021; ii) the changing curricular landscape now that the new GE has been implemented; and iii) years of conversation within the department about how we can better serve our students' educational needs. While the changes are relatively minor, we think that these small changes will provide the foundational curriculum we expect our students to have, while also allowing them to move more easily through our curriculum and tailor courses to their own interests.

The attached document includes the course proposal outlining all the requested changes, our current advising sheets for all the specializations (formerly called concentrations) within the major, the new advising sheets for the specializations, the learning goals for the major, and the curricular map. I've also included a table of contents to make navigating the documents a little easier.

On behalf of the Department of English, we want to thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely yours,

Elizabeth Hewitt

Revision to English Major: Literature, Film, Folklore, and Popular Culture Specialization; Writing, Rhetoric, and Literacy Specialization; Creative Writing Specialization; Pre-Education Specialization

1. General Information

- The proposed revision involves:
 - The reduction of credit hours (from 39 to 36) for major.
 - Reduction of honors seminars (from 3 to 2) for Honors students.
 - More course options for fulfilling literary history breadth requirements across all concentrations.
 - The elimination of the Folklore Specialization, and the incorporation of its curriculum into the Literature, Film, and Popular Culture Specialization.
 - The name-change of the Literature, Film, and Popular Specialization to include folklore curriculum.
 - The elimination of EDUTL 3356, and the addition of both English 2269 and English 4572 in the Pre-Education Specialization.
 - The elimination of application process for the Creative Writing Specialization.
- Proposed implementation Fall 2023. Current majors (including those in the current Folklore Specialization) will be grandfathered into current major requirements.
- The proposed changes fall exclusively within the Department of English.

Description of Current Major Program:

- The current major includes 5 specialized tracks (or what we formerly called “Concentrations”):
 - Students in Literature, Film, and Popular Culture focused their curriculum on advanced study of literary history and theory from Medieval to contemporary period in Anglophone world, film and television history and theory, and an array of historical popular cultural texts (plays, broadsides, genre fiction, and comics).
 - Students in Writing, Rhetoric, and Literacy focused their curriculum on advanced study of rhetoric, compositional analysis and pedagogy, history of literacy and literacy studies, digital media, technical, business, and professional writing.
 - Students in Creative Writing focused their curriculum on advanced practice of creative writing in one or more genres: poetry, narrative fiction, and narrative non-fiction.
 - Students in Folklore focused their curriculum on advanced study of texts and practices of folklore studies.
 - Students in Pre-education focused their curriculum on training and prerequisites for and M.Ed. and eventual licensure in Integrated Language Arts, Adolescent to Young Adult (Grades 7-12) in the State of Ohio.
- All majors were required to take: i) 39 credit hours; ii) a methodology course; and iii) 3 literary history survey courses (1 in early British literature [English 2201]; 1 in early American literature [English 2290]; and 1 in early post-1800 British literature or post-1865 American literature [English 2202 or 2291]).¹

2. Rationale for Revision

- The new major will reduce current 39 credit hour requirement to 36 credit hours. Because our Pre-Education students also take the prerequisites for the M.Ed. English Language Arts Program, their requirements are somewhat different, resulting in a degree of 36-38 credit hours.
 - In preparation for the External Program Review (Fall 2021), we compared our major requirements with those of peer institutions and discovered that the credit hour requirements for the English major at Ohio State University were higher than many of our peers. While the major at OSU requires 39 hours, the average among 13 other institutions² was 35.3 credit hours.
 - Similarly, the Department of English's 39 credit hour requirement is higher than other major programs in the Humanities at Ohio State University.³
 - The 3-credit-hour reduction will be achieved by reducing the required number of lower-level literary history survey courses from 3 courses (9 credits) to 2 courses (6 credits).
 - We will also increase the variety of courses students can take to fulfill our current lower-level literary historical survey requirement, thereby retaining the department's commitment to literary historical coverage but with more diverse curricular options—both in terms of subject matter and course level. This proposed change was motivated by the following:
 - Comparison with peer institutions indicated that literary historical coverage is most often fulfilled with upper-level classes and that OSU's 9-credit 2000-level survey sequence is unusual among peers.
 - The External Program Review (Fall 2021) recommended that we reduce the 9-credit 2000-level survey requirement, suggesting both that our requirements were an outlier among English majors at peer institutions and that expanding our range of literary historical offerings would be more commensurate with the department's commitments to curricular diversification.
 - Widening the narrow aperture of current required survey courses will make our students' passage through the major easier and will provide an opportunity for students to begin advanced course work in literary history sooner.
- We are incorporating folklore curriculum into the Literature, Film, and Popular Culture Specialization (and eliminating the separate Folklore Specialization) because curricular options in folklore were insufficient to allow students to successfully complete that specialization.
 - In the 8 years since the concentration was created, we never had more than 5 students in any AY enrolled.

¹ Please see attached Appendix A for current advising sheets for all specialization/concentrations.

² Northwestern U, Penn State U, Rutgers U, UC Berkeley, UCLA, U of Illinois, U of Indiana, U of Iowa, U of Kentucky, U of Maryland, U of Michigan, U of North Carolina, U of Washington

³ The average credit hours for other majors in the humanities (not including language departments) is 34.

- We will better serve the curricular needs of students interested in advanced folklore studies by folding these courses into the curricular options of our largest concentration.
- We are reducing the number of honors seminars required for honors students from 3 courses (9 credits) to 2 courses (6 credits) because as the number of honors students majoring in English has declined (there are currently only 41), we are unable to offer more than 1 honors seminar each semester, making schedule planning more difficult for our students. We are eliminating the requirement that honors students in the Pre-Education Specialization take English 4578H since this is no longer a course the department offers.
- We are slightly changing the requirements for the Pre-Education Specialization to accommodate the new requirements for English 2269 or 4569 (Digital Media), and English 4572 (Traditional Grammar & Usage). There have always been a handful of classes that students needed to take outside of the English Major to fulfill prerequisites for the English Language Arts (7-12) M.Ed.: we have added EDUTL 3356 to this list and placed the English courses into the major program curriculum. English 2269 or 4569 will also now fulfill the Embedded Literacy-Technology requirement for our Pre-education Specialization students.
- We are eliminating the application process for the Creative Writing Specialization to allow wider access to the Specialization and therefore the ability to continue robust offering of CW curriculum at the 4000-level.
 - The Creative Writing Specialization was distinct from the other specialized tracks in requiring students to submit a writing portfolio for the selective admission, but enrollment patterns have indicated that students are reluctant to select the Creative Writing Specialization because of this admission requirement.
 - The declining number of students in the specialization means there are fewer students enrolling in the 4000-level courses, causing cancellation especially in poetry and creative non-fiction workshops, even though we know there is robust demand for CW courses.
 - All students will now be able to identify the CW Specialization when they declare the major. There will still be a faculty review of writing portfolios for admission to 4000-level workshops, to insure good alignment between student and faculty styles and genres. But removing the prohibitive barrier of the selective admission to the specialization will increase accessibility to CW courses at all levels.

3. Present Curriculum and Proposed Curriculum

A. Changes to Core Curriculum for all Specializations

Present Curriculum⁴

⁴ Please see attached Appendix A for current advising sheets.

- English 3398 or English 3379 [3 credits]
- English 2201, British Literature: Origins to 1800 [3 credits]
- English 2290, Colonial & US Literature to 1865 [3 credits]
- English 2202, British Literature post-1800 or 2291, US Literature post 1865 [3 credits]

Proposed Curriculum

- English 3398 or English 3379 [3 credits]
- Pre-1800 literature course at 2000+ level [3 credits]⁵
- Post-1800 literature course at 2000+ level [3 credits]⁶

B. Elimination of Folklore Specialization

Current curriculum in Folklore:

- English 2270 (Intro to Folklore Studies)
- English 4577.01 (Folklore I)
- English 4577.02 (Folklore II)
- English 4577.03 (Folklore III)
- English 4597.02 (Regional Cultures in Transition)
- English 5189 (The Ohio Field School)

Proposed curriculum:

- Each of the above courses will be included in options available for students enrolled in the Literature, Film, Folklore, and Popular Culture Specialization (see included Curriculum Map and Advising Sheet).

C. Reduction of Honors Seminar Requirements

Current curriculum:

- Honors students are required to take 3 of the explicitly designated honors seminars: 4590.01H, 4590.02H, 4590.03H, 4590.04H, 4590.05H, 4590.06H, 4590.07H, 4590.08H, 4591.01, or 4591.02.

Proposed curriculum:

- Honors students will be required to take 2 of these same designated courses.

⁵ Please see attached Appendix B for list of courses.

⁶ Please see attached Appendix B for list of courses.

D. Change in Pre-Education Specialization course work

Current curriculum:

- EDUTL 3356 (Literature for Adolescents)

Proposed curriculum:

- English 2269 (Digital Media Composing) or 4569 (Digital Media in English Studies)
- English 4572 (Traditional Grammar and Usage)
- English 2269 or English 4569 will now fulfill the Embedded Literacy-Technology requirement

D. Elimination of Creative Writing Concentration application

There are no curricular changes associated with the revision in the CW Concentration.

E. Assessment Plan

The revisions to the major will not require modification of assessment plan since the Learning Goals for the major remain unchanged.⁷

⁷ For current (and continued) Learning Goals, please see Appendix C.

HOW TO GRADUATE WITH RESEARCH DISTINCTION IN ENGLISH

Students planning to pursue _____ in English will complete at least 4 credit hours of English 4999 (4999H for honors students), the course number assigned for work on undergraduate theses, in addition to the 39 hours required for the major. To graduate with research distinction in English students must meet the following requirements at the time of their graduation: (a) have completed 60 graded hours at Ohio State, (b) have at least a 3.0 cumulative grade point average _____, and have successfully defended their thesis during an oral examination.

Information about the thesis process and requirements can be found at <http://ascadvising.osu.edu/node/192>. Honors students should consult the information and requirements available at <http://aschonors.osu.edu/honors/research-thesis>.

All English majors are encouraged to consider completing a thesis under the direction of a faculty advisor(s). Thesis projects may involve the drafting of a scholarly research paper; the production of a novel, set of short stories, or collection of poems; the analysis of narratives and/or other qualitative data collected from a particular cultural or regional community; and/or the creation of a digital media artifact. Students are encouraged to talk with members of the English faculty and their English Undergraduate Advisors, as early as possible in their undergraduate careers, if they are interested in developing a thesis project or would like more information about the thesis process and requirements.

HONORS STUDENTS: ADDITIONAL MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

English majors who are members of the ASC Honors Program will complete all 13 course requirements (39 hours) as required by the English major program; however, at least 3 of these 13 courses must come from the following list of 4000-level English honors seminars:

4578H Special Topics in Film	4590.04H Romanticism	4590.08H U.S. and Colonial Lit
4590.01H The Middle Ages	4590.05H The Later 19th Century	4590.09 Topics in Lit & Literary Interpretation

4590.03H The Long 18th Century	4590.07H Lit in English After 1945	4591.02H Topics in the Study of Rhetoric

HOW TO GRADUATE WITH RESEARCH DISTINCTION IN ENGLISH

Students planning to pursue research distinction in English will complete at least 4 credit hours of English 4999 (4999H for honors students), the course number assigned for work on undergraduate theses, in addition to the 39 hours required for the major. To graduate with research distinction in English students must meet the following requirements at the time of their graduation: (a) have completed 60 graded hours at Ohio State, (b) have at least a 3.0 cumulative grade point average (note: the GPA requirement for honors students is 3.4), and have successfully defended their thesis during an oral examination. Information about the thesis process and requirements can be found at <http://ascadvising.osu.edu/node/192>. Honors students should consult the information and requirements available at <http://aschonors.osu.edu/honors/research-thesis>.

All English majors are encouraged to consider completing a thesis under the direction of a faculty advisor(s). Thesis projects may involve the drafting of a scholarly research paper; the production of a novel, set of short stories, or collection of poems; the analysis of narratives and/or other qualitative data collected from a particular cultural or regional community; and/or the creation of a digital media artifact. Students are encouraged to talk with members of the English faculty and their English Undergraduate Advisors, as early as possible in their undergraduate careers, if they are interested in developing a thesis project or would like more information about the thesis process and requirements.

ENGLISH MAJOR – CREATIVE WRITING (CW) CONCENTRATION

Department of English | The Ohio State University

421 Denney Hall | 164 Annie and John Glenn Avenue | english.osu.edu

Call 614-292-6065 to make an advising appointment or to find out about our drop-in advising hours.

SELECTIVE ADMISSIONS TO THIS CONCENTRATION

Students interested in the English major – Creative Writing Concentration (CW) should note that admission to this concentration is selective. Information sessions about the CW concentration and the application and admissions process will be held prior to the sixth Friday of Autumn and Spring terms. Students should contact their English Advisor for details about upcoming info sessions.

Students may apply for admission to the CW concentration once they have completed a 2000-level creative writing workshop and are enrolled in (and currently completing) a 3000-level workshop. To apply for admission, students should complete the application webform and include samples of their best creative writing by the sixth Friday of the term. In this form, students will explain their interest in the CW concentration, what creative writing classes they have taken and who their instructors were, and provide brief descriptions (1 – 2 sentences) of their attached writing samples. Writing samples should not exceed 20 pages in length. The CW Concentration committee will then review the student’s application and may request to meet with them before determining whether to admit the student to the CW concentration. Students who are not admitted to the CW concentration will work with their advisor to ensure that their creative writing courses can be used toward requirements on another English major concentration area.

ENROLLING IN 4000-LEVEL CREATIVE WRITING WORKSHOPS

Admission to the 4000-level creative writing workshops (i.e., 4565, 4566, and 4568) is by permission of the instructor. Students who have not been admitted to the CW concentration and who wish to enroll in a 4000-level creative writing workshop in an upcoming term should email the faculty member assigned to teach that workshop as soon as possible. Students should send the faculty member creative writing samples along with a list of the creative writing courses the student has completed.

Student who have been admitted to the concentration should email their top choice and second choice of 4000-level workshops for the upcoming term prior to the opening of university scheduling (not their individual windows) to their assigned English advisor.

CW CONCENTRATION AND MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

Students pursuing the English major – CW Concentration will complete a minimum of 13 courses (39 hours). Students must have a cumulative minimum grade point average of 2.0 (C) for all courses in the major program and a minimum grade of C- for each individual major course. A minimum grade of C is required for English 3398.

Not all courses are offered every term. Please check Schedule Planner for current offerings and/or consult with your advisor.

HOW TO GRADUATE WITH RESEARCH DISTINCTION IN ENGLISH

Students planning to pursue research distinction in English will complete at least 4 credit hours of English 4999 (4999H for honors students), the course number assigned for work on undergraduate theses, in addition to the 39 hours required for the major. To graduate with research distinction in English students must meet the following requirements at the time of their graduation: (a) have completed 60 graded hours at Ohio State, (b) have at least a 3.0 cumulative grade point average (note: the GPA requirement for honors students is 3.4), and have successfully defended their thesis during an oral examination.

Information about the thesis process and requirements can be found at <http://ascadvising.osu.edu/node/192>. Honors students should consult the information and requirements available at <http://aschonors.osu.edu/honors/research-thesis>.

All English majors are encouraged to consider completing a thesis under the direction of a faculty advisor(s). Thesis projects may involve the drafting of a scholarly research paper; the production of a novel, set of short stories, or collection of poems; the analysis of narratives and/or other qualitative data collected from a particular cultural or regional community; and/or the creation of a digital media artifact. Students are encouraged to talk with members of the English faculty and their English Undergraduate Advisors, as early as possible in their undergraduate careers, if they are interested in developing a thesis project or would like more information about the thesis process and requirements.

APPENDIX C

English BA: Program Goals

Goal 1: Students exhibit broad knowledge, understanding, and appreciation of literatures written in English, especially the British and American traditions, including main literary-historical periods, major authors, and history of the English language.

Goal 2: Students demonstrate high levels of proficiency in oral and written communication and the ability to write persuasively and elegantly using the argumentation, creativity, rhetoric, style, and editing methods appropriate to their areas of concentration.

Goal 3: Students show an informed awareness of the role of diversity in the works that they study and write, recognizing the importance of texts in representing both different subject positions in culture and society; and the effects of cultural bias and/or systemic discrimination.

Goal 4: Students display an informed awareness of different critical theories, methodologies and approaches to studying texts; demonstrate skill in using the critical tools, terminologies, and documentation methods needed to analyze and assess a range of texts, including those produced by their peers; and the ability to identify the formal properties of texts as well as major literary forms and genres.

Goal 5: By graduation, students demonstrate the knowledge, skills, and independent thinking necessary to produce a substantial project appropriate to their concentrations and to be successful in their chosen career paths.

Hi Rachel,

I just realized that even though you kindly wrote up a clear set of things that I needed to do to fix the error on our Pre-Education Specialization advising sheet, I neglected to do them. Finally, this is the letter requesting a slight revision to the Department of English's Pre-Education Specialization.

The Department of English realized that we made an error in our course listing of classes that would fulfill the American Literature requirement of the Pre-Education Specialization and forgot to include English 2291: US Literature 1865 to Present. Attached please find the correct advising sheet for the Pre-Education specialization and a .pdf of the proposal with a comment marking the change in that advising sheet. Let me know if you need something additionally or if I've sent the wrong documentation.

So many thanks,
Beth

Hello, Beth! I talked to Bernadette this afternoon. This will just be submitted to ASCC as an informational item. As you know, this means that it won't go to Subcommittee or even be voted on by the ASCC; it will just be shared as an "FYI". Here's what we'd need from you to move forward with this:

1. A short letter explaining what the change is and why it's being made (error correction).
2. A copy of the proposal with the correction made (if you don't have the original documents that you submitted, let me know - we can pull the PDF for you, but if you have the original word doc that will likely be helpful).
3. A copy of the advising sheet and/or 4-year plan with the correction made.

If you can email that to Bernadette, we'll get it uploaded and put on the next ASCC agenda.

Thanks,
Rachel

I acknowledge that the land that The Ohio State University occupies is the ancestral and contemporary territory of the Shawnee, Potawatomi, Delaware, Miami, Peoria, Seneca, Wyandotte, Ojibwe and Cherokee peoples. Specifically, the university resides on land ceded in the 1795 Treaty of Greenville and the forced removal of tribes through the Indian Removal Act of 1830. I honor the resiliency of these tribal nations and recognize the historical contexts that has and continues to affect the Indigenous peoples of this land.

Hi Beth,

My assumption is that this will need to be a very small update to the major, likely an informational item at the full ASCC. However, I'll let Rachel confirm (and I am assuming she'll need to have Bernadette be looped in).

All my best,
Michael

Subject: Query about change to audit sheet

Dear Michael and Rachel,

It may be that I should both Bernadette and not you about this question (in which case I apologize in advance). We just realized that we made an error when we listed the courses in Pre-Ed specialization and that English 2291 should be included as fulfilling the American literature requirement.

We would like the course list to read:

- 2290: Colonial & US Literature to 1865
- 2291: US Literature 1865 to Present
- 4550: Topics in Colonial & Early National Lit. of the US
- 4551: Topics in 19thc. US Lit
- 4552: Topics in American Poetry
- 4553: 20th c. US Fiction
- 4564.03: Major Author, Am Lit to 1900

Do you know what steps I need to take to correct this error and fix the audit sheet?

Thank you so much!
